How to play

Playing Human Bingo can be a great way to get people talking to each other and can help them feel less nervous.

The aim is to talk to lots of different people to see if you can find people to match all the statements on the bingo card.

You can make up your own statements to pop onto bingo cards. Or we have some here that you can use. If you're making your own, make the statements as relevant as you can to the people attending.
